Description:	I am getting a watermark on my questionnaires after typesetting, and I can't figure out where it is coming from. The word "DRAFT" appears as an opaque, slanted watermark across the center of the document. I tried commenting out all the questions and text. The watermark shows up even with nothing but aa \usepackage{automultiplechoice} command in the document.

This watermark is removed when you process your source file from the AMC gui, which is the prefered workflow (you can however prepare your exam outside AMC ignoring the _Draft_ mode, and then switch to AMC to prepare the final paper and print it).
You can also use the @nowatermark@ option to remove the watermark.
